

American College of Physicians

Dear Dr. Muruganathan,

It is well known that physicians are bombarded with advances in medical information from all corners. There are more journals in the world than one can keep up with in one's lifetime. Collating services that summarize and collate key articles and authentic information concisely for quick review and use in clinical practice are increasingly becoming integral to staying informed and keeping up with advances in medicine and science. I am delighted to note that under Dr. A. Muruganathan's astute leadership, Medibeats is one such publication and digital platform that aims to provide up to date information in a concise and succinct format, and 'bite-sized' snippets that are quickly referenced and memorized.

To that end it is my hope and prayer that this service will be of maximal utility to frontline clinicians and academicians. I applaud Dr. Muruganathan for his leadership and compliment him in his innovation and creativity.

Warmly,
